Solving the school problems

To the Editor:

After reading the latest contributions in the Walpole Times to the school issue, I would like to offer the following for the digestion of the citizens of Walpole.

$10.2 million school addition approved [illegible]

BY TANNA KASPEROWICZ

A special town meeting approved a $10.2 million addition-alteration project for the high school last Thursday. The vote was 96-44, just three votes more than the two-thirds majority vote needed for passage of the bond issue.

The $10.2 million project, which includes a swimming pool, is essentially a stripped down version of the $12.2 million package which was offered to a special town meeting on Dec. 19. At that time, representatives defeated the proposal and directed the Board of Selectmen to meet with School Department officials to determine if less costly plans could be drawn up.

Both the Permanent Building Committee and the Finance Committee recommended approval of a $9.9 million addition, which had eliminated an $800,000 auditorium, $200,000 for moveable equipment, a$96,000 planetarium, and $50,000 field utility building and other things from the original set of plans.

Building Committee Chairman John Connor warned at the outset of debate on Article 6 that "this may be the last time the town will have a chance to vote on the 65 per cent reimbursement. There is no place for us to go with this project." His words seemed to weigh heavily on town meeting representatives throughout the debate.

SIXTEEN TOWN meeting members changed their votes from no on Dec. 19 to yes on Feb. 13 for the $10.2 million addition. At both meetings, there were 139 members present.

Early in the discussion, Claire M. Lounsbery of Precinct 4 offered town meeting a substitute motion which included the swimming pool within the article instead of leaving it as an alternative. The substitute motion passed.

However, town meeting was then inadvertently advised that the entire package would be lost unless the "school plus pool" motion survived a two-thirds majority vote. Confusion and more debate ensued, with those supporting the addition fearful that the inclusion of the pool would doom the addition for defeat. With apparently the same thoughts, those opposed to the addition were pleased, and Selectman Robert W. Foster of Precinct 1 questioned Town Moderator Thomas White's ability to carry out town meeting's intentions.

MaryAnn Boragine of Precinct 1 asked Mr. White how town meeting could correct the substitute motion so the meeting could vote on the main motion of a $9.9 million addition and vote separately on the pool as an alternative. "I don't want to lose the whole package," she said.

Town Counsel Alphone W. Query Jr. advised town meeting to reconsider their vote on the substitute motion. Had reconsideration passed, town meeting would have been able to defeat the substitute motion and proceed to vote on the main article and the swimming pool separately. However, reconsideration failed, 83-42. It had needed a two-thirds majority vote to pass.

WITH THE POOL now a permanent part of the article, the issue was put to its final test, a roll call vote. Supporters' fears of defeat proved groundless, and the $10.2 million addition including the pool passed, 96-44, just three votes more than needed for the two-thirds majority vote.

During the debate, Finance Committee member Thomas H. McCormack suggested to town meeting that the School Committee look into their operating budget for some of [illegible] funding of the addition. But Sch[illegible] Committeeman David R. Came[illegible] replied that the School Board [illegible] keeping the budget to b[illegible] necessities. "This isn't just a h[illegible] school," he told Mr. McCorma[illegible] "This whole article is to keep us f[illegible] having to do patchwork all over t[illegible] I don't believe the impact can[illegible] taken out of the school budget."

FinCom vote 5-4

The FinCom's 5-4 vote to recommend approval also followed an emotional debate and proved to be an accurate reflection of town meeting sentiment.

Building committee Chairman John P. Connor presented details of the 1,600 pupil, four-year facility along with projections of its impact on the tax rate.

Mr. McCormack admitted that he recognizes a need for some form of addition to the high school. But he explained that he opposed the [illegible] of the number of athletic fields and economies in other areas produced a reduction of about $406,000, he said.

Richard W. Dugdale of precinct 3 commented, "Everybody agrees we need this but nobody wants to pay for it."

Before any work is done on a scenic road which would necessitate the removal of trees or stone walls the planning board must hold a public hearing.

Selectman Robert W. Foster, emphasizing that both he and Mr. Boragine were speaking as individuals, argued in favor of the article as a step toward proper planning.

Town meeting tonight

State reverses stand; RTM to vote on $9.9 million addition

The state School Building Assistance Bureau (SBAB) has reversed its stand of a week ago, thereby allowing the Permanent Building and Finance Committees to recommend that a special town meeting tonight appropriate $9.9 million for a high school addition.

The town meeting gets under way at 7:30 this evening in the auditorium of West Junior High School.

According to Mr. Connor, the state Board of Education told its subordinate agency, the SBAB, not to issue any new approvals for 45 days. At that time it was thought both by local and state officials that final approval could not be given to the major changes in the Walpole project.

Therefore, the Building Committee returned to the drawing boards to again revise their plans. This time "we managed to make several cost $9.9 million project," Mr. Connor said.

Now that it has been determined that the town has all the SBAB approvals it needs, officials will go to the state Board of Education for the final approval. But Mr. Connor explained tha this is a mere formality. The Board of Education has no discretion in such a case. If the SBAB has issued all required approvals, then the Board of Education must also approve 65 per cent funding.

Referendum also possible

Town meeting will face two choices on HS addition

BY PETER HAYHOW
Managing Editor

As a result of the 45-day moratorium on school construction recently imposed by the state Board of Education, next Thursday's special town meeting will face two choices on the proposed high school addition: a $10.7 million plan that will have guaranteed 65 per cent state reimbursement; and a $9.9 million plan that will carry no such guarantee.

These are the latest effects of the moratorium as determined by local school officials, who have been in almost constant contact with the state School Building Assistance Bureau and Board of Education since the moratorium was imposed last week. However, all officials agree that this reimbursemtnt-guaranteed plan, though, will be the one recommended by the School, Building and Finance Committees.

In effect, Mr. Bruno told the School Committee Monday night, the Building Committee will take the opposite approach at town meeting next week from its proposal last month. "Before we went in with everything and it would have taken a separate motion to get an alternate out of the plans. This time we're going in with the basic plan and it will take a separate motion to put an alternate back in."

ALL OF THOSE affiliated with the planning stages are stressing that both proposals to be made next week

templated before the moratorium was announced and for which tentative SBAB approval had been granted. These cuts include eliminating the new auditorium and completely eliminating the building addition portion that would have contained the swimming pool. These additional cuts will bring the estimated cost down to $9.9 million.

If a referendum vote is to be the final answer, one of the two plans will have to be approved by town meeting. Then a petition must be filed within 10 days of the town meeting's vote requesting the referendum on the same issue.

When asked to assess the possible town meeting vote next week, Mr. Connor declined, saying, "I try not to

cting Sends School Officials Back To Drawing Board

John P. Connor
. . . Project details

He reported that last summer, as the prospect of escalating costs became apparent, the committee spent several weeks going over the project in an attempt to trim the budget.

Modifications in classroom size, reduction of the number of athletic fields and economies in other areas produced a reduction of about $406,000, he said.

$5.5M Net Cost

He also gave comparative cost estimates for the project with and without two options, a swimming pool and a planetarium.

The net reduction after state reimbursement if the two options are not included would be about $76,683, he said.

The net cost of the entire project to the town would be $5.5 million, he stated.

Building committee member Peter Conti related that, according to state law, the bids received for the project would remain firm unless there were changes in the plans.

Architect Credibility

However, Precinct 1 Rep. Margaret F. Maguire charged that a high school being constructed in West Roxbury had nearly doubled in cost since bids were received and asked whether this could happen in Walpole.

Mr. Conti replied, "To the best of my knowledge it could not."

Precinct 3 Rep. Richard Holman and Precinct 6 Rep. Harry Harding both questioned the credibility of the architectural firm of Russell, Gibson and Von Dohlen which had prepared last spring's figures.

Dr. Harding added that he had polled 70 families at random in his precinct and found sentiment running 4-1 against the school.

Petition Favors

However, both Precinct 3 Rep. Mary Ann Boragine and Precinct 4 Rep. Claire Lounsbery responded that they had received primarily positive comments.

Mrs. Lounsbery said she had a petition signed by more than 500 residents from all precincts in favor of the project.

Richard W. Dugdale of precinct 3 commented, "Everybody agrees we need this but nobody wants to pay for it."

He said he was told by an architect the cost escalation appears justified.

Other Articles

Speaking in favor of approving the project now he declared, "If we waited six months it would be that much worse."

After the vote on the school proposal

Richard Holman

the only warrant article to generate any debate was a request to designate Baker and Peach Streets as scenic roads.

Selectman Clement A. Boragine spoke against the article, arguing that it would impede progress and tie selectmen's hands.

Before any work is done on a scenic road which would necessitate the removal of trees or stone walls the planning board must hold a public hearing.

Selectman Robert W. Foster, emphasizing that both he and Mr. Boragine were speaking as individuals, argued in favor of the article as a step toward proper planning.

Precinct 1 Rep. Hazel Tarbell commented, "Sometimes by the time people know what's going on the trees are down and the stone walls removed."

The article, which had FinCom endorsement, passed easily.

FinCom Overruled

Representatives bucked the FinCom recommendation on an article requesting $2,750 for public liability insurance, appropriating $3,007 instead.

The difference makes the insurance $1,000 deductible rather than $2,500 deductible.

Town meeting members went along with the FinCom's recommendation to lease the Deacon Willard Lewis House to the historical society and to take no action on a Norfolk County Hospital assessment of $1,758.

The no action vote was primarily a protest against the method of assessment, FinCom Chairman Raymond Kasperowicz said, painting out the town would have to pay the bill anyway.

Security Service

Representatives also approved $10,490 for continued use of a security service to protect public buildings and $33,608 for highway construction.

Members also approved the transfer of funds from the conservation commission fund to buy land, thus qualifying the commission for 50 per cent state reimbursement.

They also appropriated $2,680 to pay bills which Mr. Kasperowicz explained had been late but were legitimate.

They took no action on a request to purchase or take by eminent domain a sewer easement off Ginley Road after Sewer and Water Commissioner Edward Delaney said a dispute over the easement had been resolved.

The English Department under the chairmanship of Mr. Arthur Hull busily pursued its goals of teaching students to, ". . . read with understanding, to speak with and write with precision and hopefully some grace."

In striving to achieve these goals, the English Department has brought to WHS as guest lecturers, Ms. Margery Cavonaugh Read, a Poet, and Mr. McMahon, a lawyer specializing in copyright laws. The Department has sponsored field trips to T. D. Brown photographers in R.I., to the Salem Witch Museum and to Brandeis Theater to see "MacBeth."

The English Department's efforts were rewarded when English student Lisa Guay won the National Council of Teachers of English Award for writing.

To maintain the quality of the English curriculum, planning for next year has already begun. A new course, Radio Broadcasting, is to be offered in connection with the new radio station at WHS.

Math Department Plans Innovative Program

In keeping with its attempt to provide students with the latest methods in math, the Department introduced the use of calculators in general math classes. Other innovative programs are planned as soon as adequate space is available, hopefully in the new addition to our school.

Political speakers, field trips, current events contests, plus improved and timely curriculums in courses have been some of the ways used. All of this and a 200th birthday coming up! WOW!

Two innovative teachers, Ms. Sue Page and Dr. Kay Vickers, left last year, and have been replaced by Thomas Banit, Marina Rendino, and Sally Stevens. These teachers have offered the students some different views that have served to stimulate interesting approaches to issues.

Science department chairman Thomas Brown said changes will be made in his department in the coming years. Already Oceanography has been added to the curriculum and plans are being made to "man-orient" science instead of having "thing oriented" classes. Also the classes will be lab-oriented with emphasis on both manual and intellectual skills.

Paglari's Army Keeps on Rollin'

Mr. Paglari and company bring foreign culture as well as foreign languages to Walpole High. Their students become well versed in French, Spanish, German, and Latin cultures.

The mini-U.N. consists of such diverse personalities as Miss Cole with the "fastest forty-two minutes in school," along with "in-other-words" Miss Miller. Their French blends well with the harsh, gutteral cadence of Herr Stoltze and the mellow tones of the romantic Spaniards: Watson, and Kahrilas. Mrs. Calf still insists that without Latin one is a "barbarian."

P.S. Mr. MacGregor, one of the most versatile Spanish teachers, moonlights as a bull fighter.

Going over the books is a constant chore.

The basic goals of the Business Department are: establishment of a model office, changeover to all electric typewriters, and establishment of machines' transcription rooms.

The Business Department has invited guest lecturers in from various business schools. Business classes visited Boston Superior Court, and the Distributive Ed classes went to the Southeastern Distributive Education Conference.

Distributive Education Program, complete with store, is one of the new courses added to the Business Department. The greatest single change in the Business Department is some cooperative programs in office experience and distributive education.

Walpole's Distributive Education club has exhibited and presented displays at the Southeast Regional Conference at Hyannis.

Teacher/Equipment Problems Plague Print Shop

This September a new print shop teacher, Mr. Meadows, came to Walpole High. Six weeks after school began he gave his 60-day notice over a conflict with the administration.

Two weeks later Mr. David Waterman was hired as a fill-in until a permanent teacher could be found. He was experienced in the field of graphic arts. Mr. Waterman left because of a salary dispute, feeling his experience merited higher pay.

In February, Walpole High hired its third print shop teacher in as many months, Mr. Alan Eagle.

Outmoded equipment in the 1908 shop will give Mr. Eagle his challenge of a lifetime.

Members of the print shop joined the journalism class for a field trip to photographers T. D. Brown in Cranston, R.I.

Art Offers Specialized Semester Courses

This year the Art Department has grown considerably in the number of students interested in the field of art.

The program has been expanded so that most of the courses offered are of a specialized nature and are also a semester long.

Among semester courses are: Interior Design, Printmaking, Ceramics, Sculpture, and Textiles. For those students who have investigated the visual arts in other grades we have two major credit courses: Art Major I & II, and Crafts Workshop I & II.

Full Scale Activities in Music Dept.

The music department has again enjoyed a successful season full of football games, parades, concerts, dances, and various other performances by the smaller ensemble groups.

Making up the department is the Marching & Concert Band, the Chorus, the popular Stageband, the Madrigal Singers, the Wind Quartet and the new Clarinet Choir, directed by Mr. Thomas Mills.

Besides the performing groups there is also offered a course in basic Music Harmony, Music History, and private instrumental and vocal lessons.

"Strengthen the muscles and you strengthen the mind" was the motto of Mr. James Burke and company this year – and strengthen they did.

Boys and girls both experienced new courses which proved interesting and fun. The boys, under Mr. Lee and Coach Tompkins, had some pretty wild and woolly International Handball games and the girls, with the assistance of Miss Singer, went through a course of Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation – a valuable life-saving technique.

All told, it was another enjoyable year for the body builders.

Home Economics Shaping Lives

This year's Home Economics' addition of a Child Development course has expanded the scope of the Home Economics Department. This additional course has given students first-hand experience in their better understanding of children.

Students spent two periods weekly in local kindergartens where they planned group activities and gave individual help to the children.

The popular Human Behavior course developed understanding, in the relations with others and understanding of the student's own growth process.

The equally popular Family Living course developed skills in management of time, energy, financial resources, nutrition and preparation and serving of food.

There were a variety of guest speakers from a psychiatrist from Medfield State Hospital to a representative from the Hastings Home for Unwed Mothers.

Among the many field trips were a visit to Newport, Rhode Island for a tour of the historical mansions, and a visit to Boston to see a play relevant to human behavior.

One goal that the Home Economics Department would like to see come about is the participation of more male students in the course.

Reading Improvement

Under the Department Head of Mr. Cairns, Reading Improvement sought to improve the reading skills of teachers and students. Teachers were offered in-service training to improve their reading abilities and to help them teach reading skills to students.

In-class instructions of students was designed to the student's needs in reading difficulties. This sought the improvement of speed, comprehension, vocabulary, and critical reading.

In out of class work students were given the opportunity to get credit in any readings they wished. Students were allowed to elect the days of the week they would attend class, with the understanding that they could work on a proposed project during their out of class days, but many students were seen in the smoking area, which resulted in the postponement of this privilege. Mr. Cairns felt "they blew it."

Small group instruction was added to this course for students with serious reading difficulties and sought help.

Driver's Ed . . . Rock

The Driver's Education course is designed to teach potential drivers the skills and knowledge necessary to become a responsible driver. Those skills include handling a car under both normal and emergency situations. The course also teaches how a car operates: engine, brakes, etc. Map reading and a mini-course in auto mechanics are also covered.

One shortcoming of the course at present is the fact that the school does not have access to an automobile for on-the-road training.

Throughout the year various speakers have been invited to talk to the classes. They have included representatives from the Registry of Motor Vehicles, safety officers, and insurance men.

The Computer Programming course introduces students to the marvels of a whole new language used in solving specific problems in record-breaking (and breathtaking) time.

"Seashore Reverie"

The landscape seemed different in the sunshine. As she walked downhill toward the jetty, she could see that the mountain beyond the house was shimmering in green and purple shades, and now that there was no mist covering the scene, she could see the dark line of the trees forming the edge of the forest far away across the Irish moors. Above the jetty she paused to look around her; to the left the sands stretched south along the black cliffs which rose abruptly from the harbor, and to the right the sands were curtained by the rocky arm of a peninsula thrusting out into the ocean.

She turned south. The breeze was cool but no longer damp and chill. The sunlight, though pallid, was faintly warm. Gulls swooped above the roar of the surf and soared high over the black cliffs, and their screams carried shrilly over the air currents to echo among the rocks.

She was conscious suddenly of loneliness. She glanced back over her shoulder at the house, but it was hidden by a jutting corner of the cliffs, and there was no sign of civilization. She hesitated uneasily and then pulled herself together with a smile at her city-dweller's reactions and walked on.

The cliffs were taller now, great scarred walls of granite with rocks piled at their base and embedded in the sand. There were caves too, some enormous caverns the size of a church, and some mere holes barely high enough for upright stance. Venturing nearer the cliff-face, she found deep pools left behind by the tide and an assortment of shellfish and seaweed clustered in the water among the rocks.

As she stooped to examine a large shell, she heard the roar of the surf and the eerie screaming of the gulls. She swung around abruptly causing her heart to pound in her lungs so hard that even her movements away from the cliffs were stiff and awkward, but once she was to the breaking waves and away from the gloomy, gaping mouths of the caves, she felt better. She started to walk again and soon had rounded another rocky peninsula and was standing before another expanse of wide white sands, unmarked, untouched, effortlessly beautiful. As she stepped out towards them, she quickly forget her absurd nervousness of a few minutes before.

—Julie Prendergast.

Labyrinth Finalists

The second annual creative expression contest was held this year, sponsored by the Labyrinth '75. In spite of the small amount of entries, the judges found it difficult to pick the winners. It was a tough decision and four lucky people were judged as the winners.

Donna Boucher won the first prize of $25.00 for the poem "Sandcastles." Eileen Matsumuro, the original first prize winner, forfeited because of a conflict of interest. Julie Prendergast received the $15 second prize for "Seashore Reverie." Third prize, ten dollars, went to Debbie Porter for her short story "Two Ways to See."

The editors of Labyrinth '75 express their thanks to all those who entered the contest or judged it and helped to make it the success that it was.

Sophomores Protest Loss Of Open Campus

Early in October of '74, the start of school was heralded by a group of angry sophomores protesting their loss of open campus. During the middle of second period, a few students blocked the buses and the administration took action. The sophomores refused to go into the building while Joan Groden negotiated with Mr. Reis. Nothing was settled and most students returned to the building. Mr. Reis called a special assembly to remind student demonstrators that they had broken the law and would be punished accordingly.

Activities Block: WHS Merry-Go-Round

Mrs. Hayman and the Activities Committee completed another productive year. With programs and exhibitions staged during Activities Block, Mrs. Hayman and Company helped to enrich the academic and social atmosphere at Walpole High School. Some of the various activities included rock concerts, a karate – Kung Fu exhibition, a Super Class competition won by the juniors, and a ping-pong tournament.

There were also many clubs which met during Activities Block, ranging from the Chef's Club, at home on the range, to the Outing Club, also at home on the range.

Boredom during Activities Block certainly could not be blamed on a program geared to all interests.

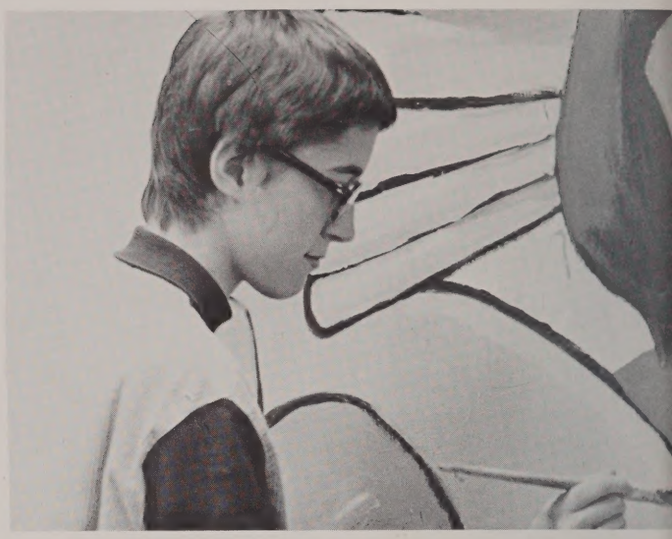
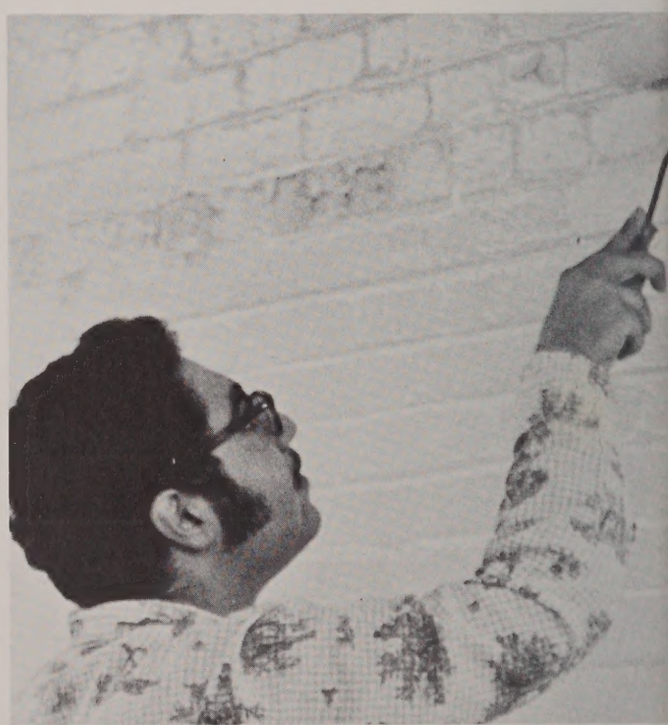
Rebel Pride Week

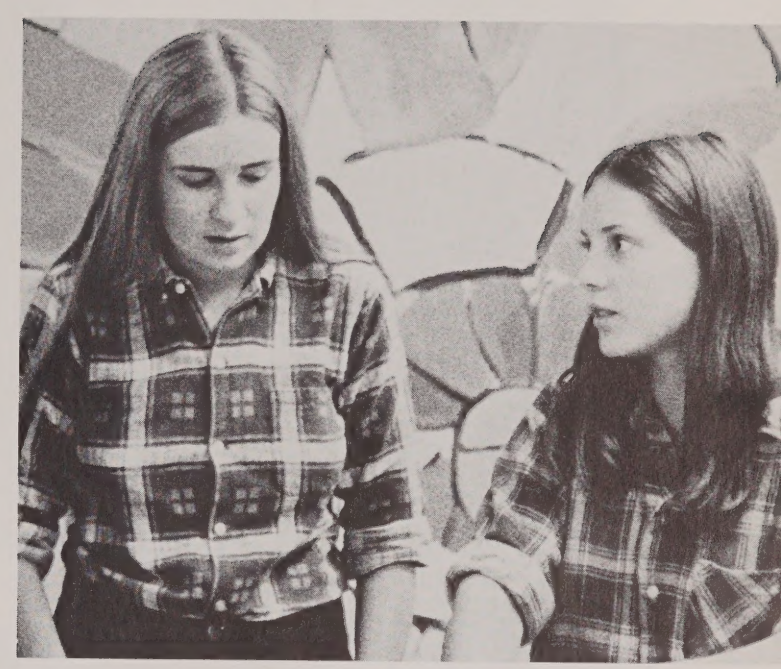


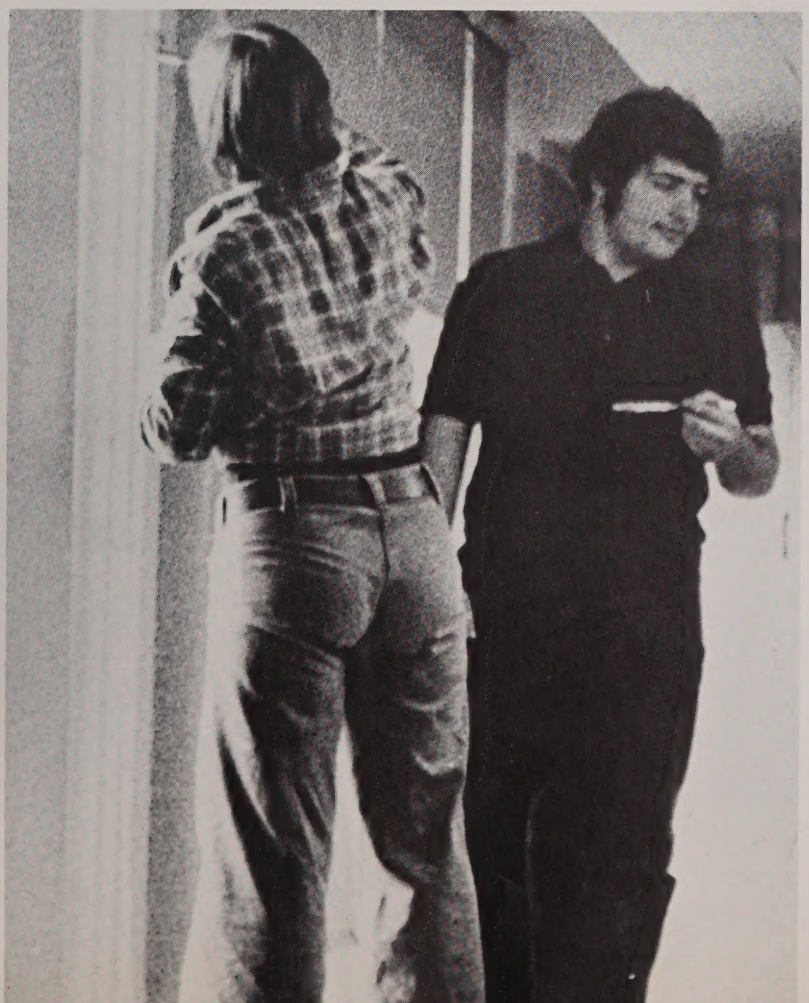


Livens Drab Look

Early in the school year Mrs. Hayman came up with another one of her brainstorms: cosmetics for a drab old lady. The anemic octegenarian in this case was Ms. Walpole High. If, as the adage goes, "A little powder, a little paint, makes a lady what she ain't," why not brush on a little surface beauty and gain new respect for the neglected old gal?

By and large the idea worked quite well despite a few unfinished jobs that recruits from study hall eventually finished.





Johnny Coco

A Queen Is Crowned

On Friday, November 15, Jean McDavitt, Walpole High's new Autumn Queen, was chosen above the four other finalists: Terri Crehan, Diane Powers, Sheila Finneran, and Judy Driscoll.

On the night of the dance couples voted their choice of the five finalists. Then, with Johnny Coco's music playing the traditional "Stairway to Heaven", hosts John Gulla and Patty Groden had the five finalists, with their escorts, seated in the center of the gym.

The new queen was presented with a bouquet of flowers and with the jewelled crown that would be hers for one night, at least, until Prince Charming returned a year from now to kiss her successor.

M*A*S*H A Smash Success

In terms of the audience it attracted, the Senior Class Play, M*A*S*H, was a complete success. Both the Friday and Saturday night performances were attended by capacity-plus crowds.

From the first curtain to the last, the colorful and sometimes unusual antics of the 4077th Mobile Army Surgical Hospital kept the audience laughing. The fine performances given by the entire cast contributed greatly to the tremendous success the play received and invoked standing ovations at the end of both performances.

Nostalgia Night Roaring Success

On March 7th, the memories, laughter, and music of the Roaring 20's, the Depression years, the 40's and 50's, were brought back at the Nostalgia Night sponsored by the Activities Committee.

In the cafeteria, booths sponsored by the different groups and clubs in the school, provided food, drink, and a variety of games to test skill and luck. The stage band played a medley of songs from years gone by in the gym, followed by a "Greaser Dance" sponsored by the Sophomore class.

Mrs. Hayman, Activities Director, commented, "It was a tremendous success; the kids were well behaved and it was a very enjoyable night. I was a little bit panicky Friday afternoon wondering how we were going to get it set up, but the kids were great: they came down and went right to work; the cleaning following the evening was just as fast. It was a team effort and we were on the winning team!"

Financially, it grossed $821 of which $300 will be distributed among the booths. Another $500 will be used to pay expenses, with the remainder to be divided among the Sophomore class, the band, and the Activities Committee.

Prom Theme: "Your Song"

On Friday evening, April 11th, Cinderellas put away their sooty brooms and patched denims to be ushered into the fairy-tale land of Chateau de Ville, escorted by equally transformed Prince Charmings.

Unfortunately, the dream world reverted prematurely into a soggy pumpkin when two musical groups showed up instead of one, and the beaming guests wilted as they waited for snailed-paced service that finally brought the food one hour and 15 minutes after the couples had been seated.

Despite the discordant notes that soured, somewhat, "Your Song", most dates resigned themselves to the $113.00 per couple and determined to make the most of it.

Some grumbled that the pumpkin, in fact, had never gotten off the ground.

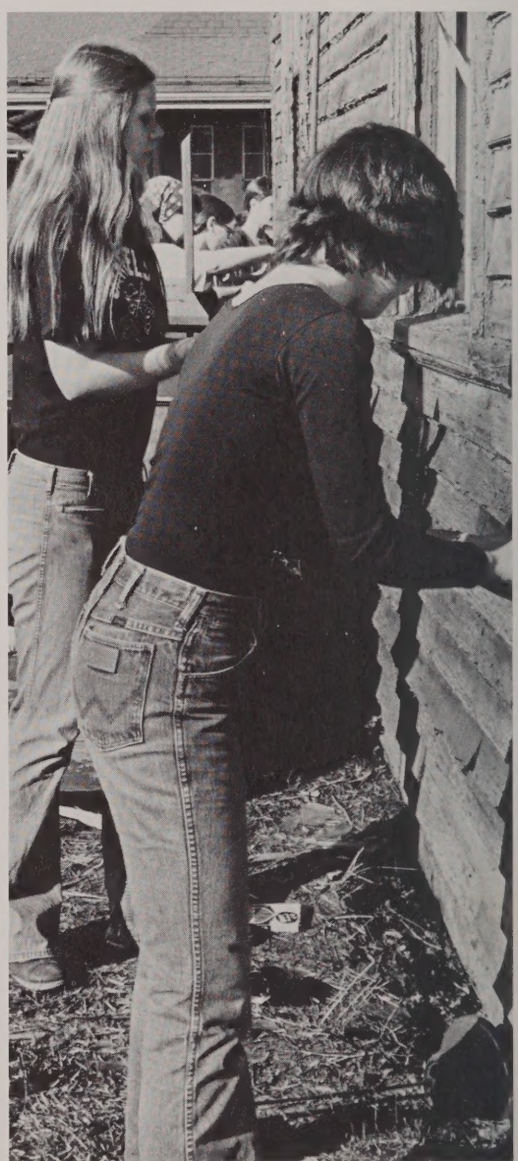
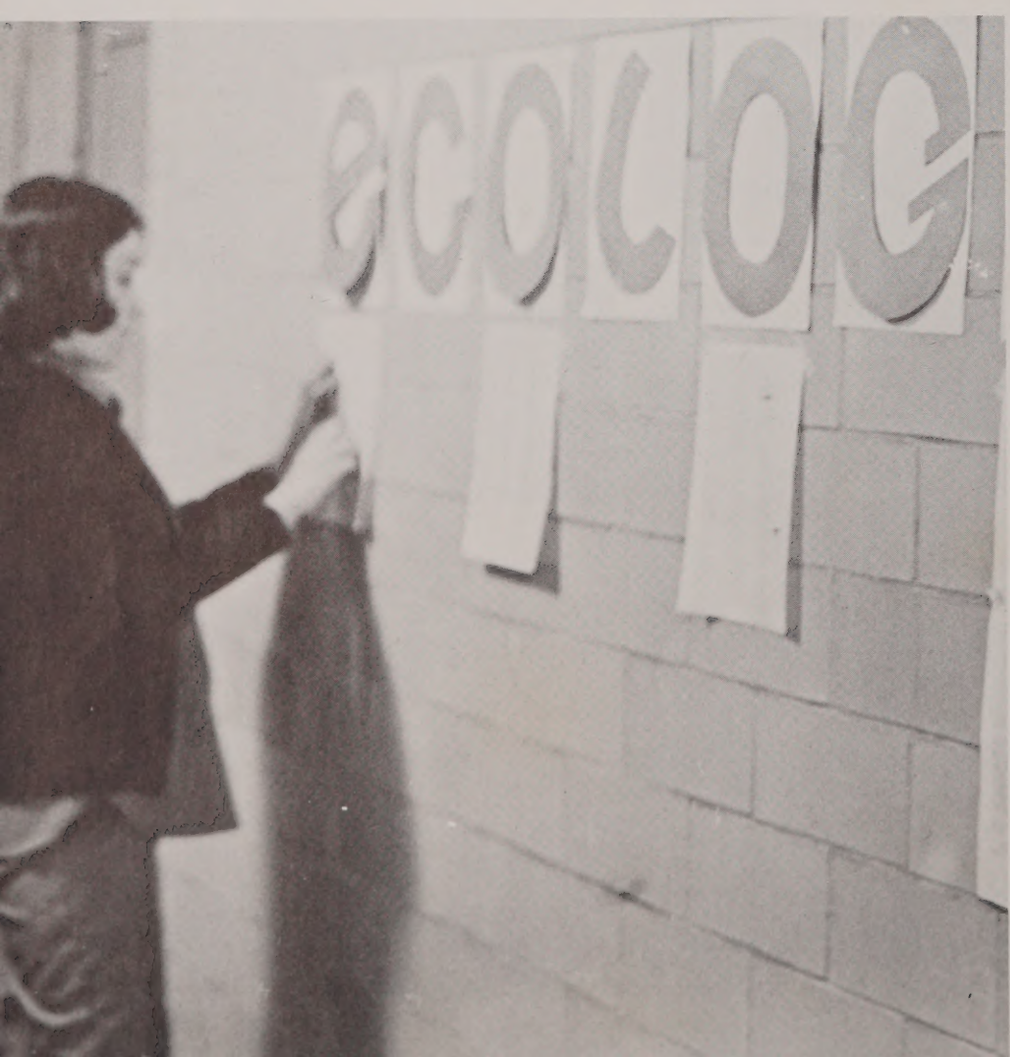
Ecology Day: Order Out Of Chaos

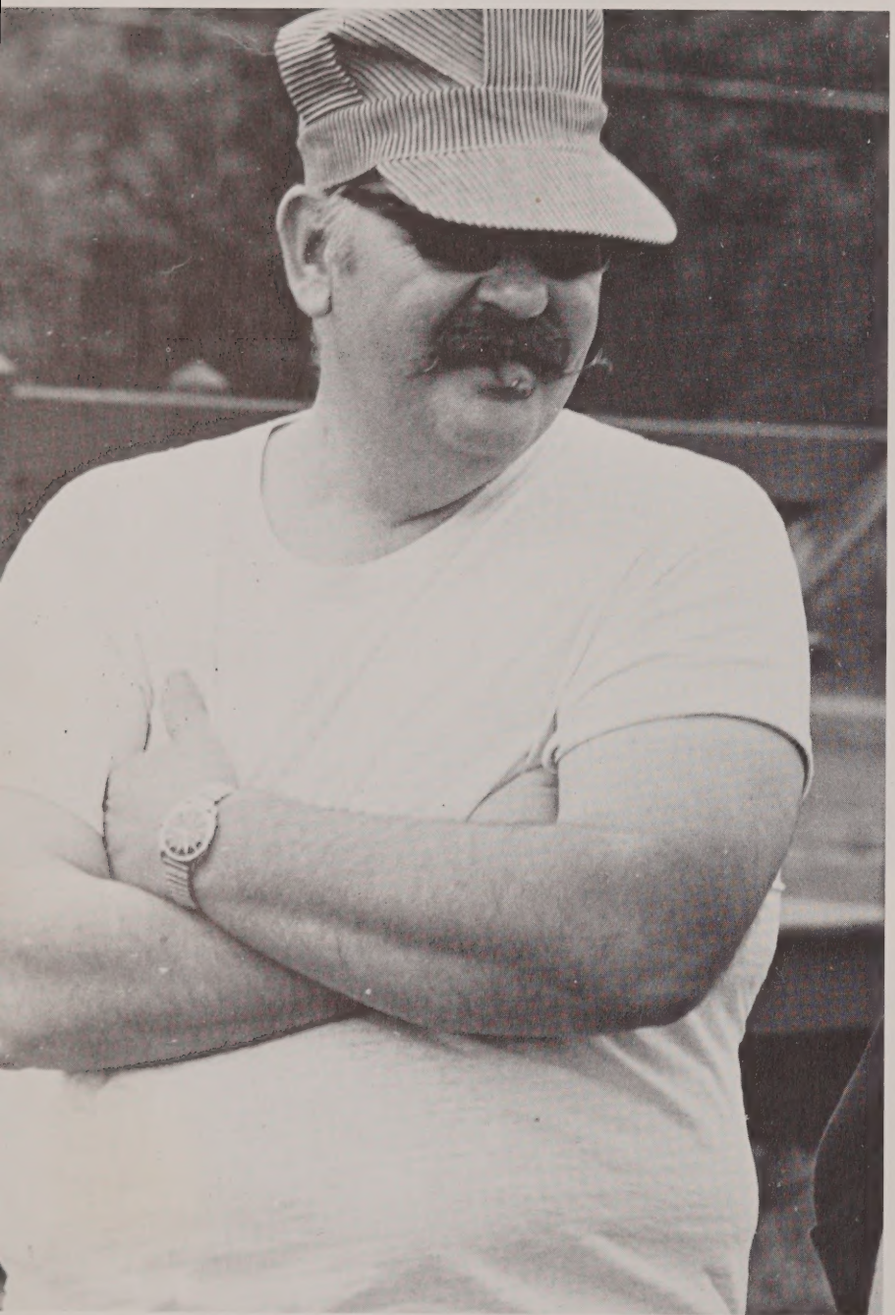
On April 18, approximately 400 students took part in Ecology Day. Twenty-one groups of students and faculty completed many diverse projects including clean-up and restoration activities in many parts of town. Flowers were planted at the High School, town hall, and Plain Cemetery. The White Bridge and the bleachers at several elementary schools were painted. The one project that invoked the largest number of students was the restoration of the train station just in time to welcome the Freedom Train.

Mrs. Claire Hayman, Walpole High Activities Director, who coordinated the Ecology Day effort, referred to the event as "an organizational nightmare", which turned out to be really good. There were a lot of good projects and teachers and students got out on a different level together.





Seniors' Final Fling

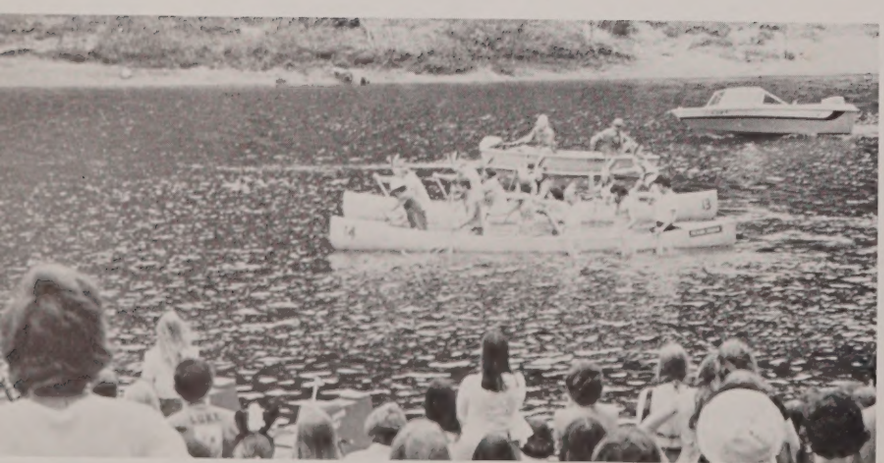


Frank Davis' Resort in Moodus, Connecticut hosted the Class of '75's outing. Five bus loads of Seniors left at 7:45 for the two-hour bus ride to Moodus. Upon arriving, someone named "Cucu," with something like a bell earring gave the orientation for the day's festivities. No charge for swimming, canoing, or playing on the field. For $5.00 an hour, one could act like the Lone Ranger on horseback.

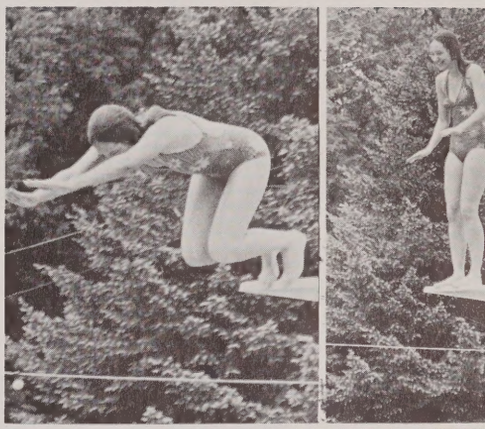
In the food department, lunch featured hamburgers, hot dogs, and cole slaw. Chicken, a salad, and rice with brownies and ice cream were served for supper.

This nutrition supplied the energy for a little "organized" athletic competition with Scituate, King Philip, and Holliston High Schools who were also there for the day. There were shuffleboard, and horseshoes to play with and more serious games like football in which WHS beat Scituate handily. WHS won the softball game, but lost the canoe races. Dennis Shea won the swimming competition.

The fun and games ended at 6:45 when the buses left almost leaving behind Jean McDavitt, B. Jankowski, and P. Silvi.



FRANK DAVIS PLAY HOUSE



Class Of '75 Claims Heritage Of "Tomorrow."

On Sunday, June 1, at 2:00 p.m., the Class of '75 sat apprehensively under threatening skies as they optimistically sat under a banner that proclaimed: "Tomorrow Belongs to Us."

That theme was carried to the class by the four speakers: Lisa Guay, Robert Paquette, Irene Mackun, and Ross Varney, who spoke respectively on "Visions," "Reflections," "Self Realization," with an introduction and conclusion by Lisa Guay.

Following the talks, Mr. Reis, principal, presented twenty-six various awards. Then the coveted moment when the graduates received their diplomas.

Though it was "Tomorrow" that belonged to the class, it was clear that "Tomorrow" began moments after the diploma was well in hand. Jack Sandberg launched his mortar board into orbit, while Dennis Shea trimmed his locks to the bone in a final gesture of something or other.

Graduation Speech - Visions

I am here to speak to you on the topic of visions. I think this topic is in need of some clarification-just what is vision? It would be convenient for me to first state what vision is not. A vision is not an idle dream or an imaginary ideal. Rather, it is a realistic appraisal of the world to be. One might raise the question "Why visions?" The real answer to this question can be given by quoting a famous Biblical proverb, "Where there is no vision, the people perish." I agree with this statement, for it is applicable in everyday experiences. If one does not have some idea of where he is headed, he will never get there. We must each visualize our individual contribution to the world, and having done that, go forward and execute each and everything necessary to make our vision a reality.

Let me now relate to you my individual vision. I see before me a world using vast amounts of electrical energy. I see also that although different methods may be used to produce energy in the future, the type of energy that will be suitable for transmission over any extended distance must be electrical in nature. During the past fifteen years, this country's use of electrical energy has doubled. Recognizing the world's need for the practical use and production of electricity, I have decided to devote part of my life to the study of electrical engineering. It is my vision to help people with any problems that may arise concerning electrical energy.

Robert C. Paquette

But so much for my individual vision. The work of one person is rarely very significant. It must be supplemented by the work of others. Thucydides, the Greek philosopher, once wrote "But the bravest are surely those who have the clearest vision of what is before them, glory and danger alike, and yet notwithstanding go out to meet it." We must all visualize what our world will be like in the future, decide what we can contribute to the world, then finally go out into the world and do whatever is necessary towards fulfillment of that vision. I hope I have by this speech convinced you all of the importance of forming visions, and I have confidence that you will. Some of us will go in for years of hard academic study, the result being a contribution of research on some frontier, while others will make an equally important contribution in the form of unselfish service to mankind. The so called "nonacademic occupations" are oftentimes made little of. However, I believe them to be equally important because, after all, where would this world be if all its members sat behind a desk pushing a pencil? The carpenter, plumber, and electrician, as well as the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker, are important members of society. Without them, the engineer, doctor, and scientist couldn't exist. Skilled laborers are the foundation of society's pyramid. Once again I say, have a vision of what you can do for your world, for "Where there is no vision, the people perish." Thank you.

Activities Committee: 'Round & 'Round They Go

The Activities Commitee was very busy this year trying to keep feeding Mrs. Hayman with ideas to keep the students busy. They came up with some great ideas such as Rebel Pride Week, Ecology Day and Nostalgia Night. They also held many Film Festivals including the Three Stooges, W.C. Fields and sports films.

Their X-blocks once a month introduced many new groups and clubs. They also brought music to the school with the Army Rock Band, the Walpole High School Stage Band and "Blue Skye." These are just a few of the activities enjoyed by students this year.

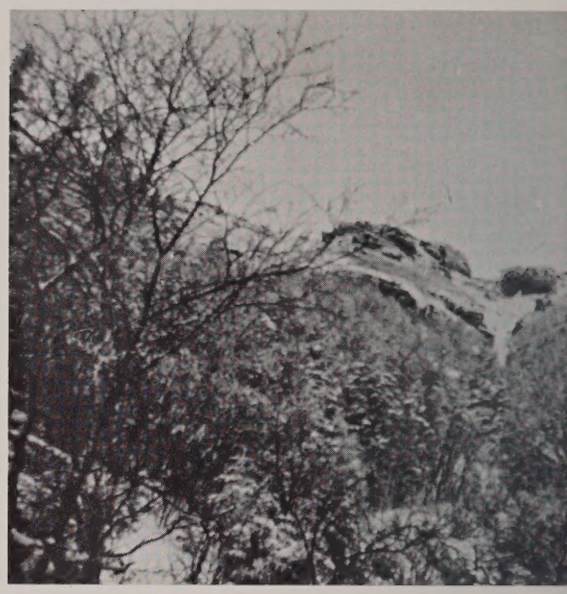
Rambling Reflections On Loon



Names and ideas like: Rock Dam rips, The Cohasset Tidal Pool, St. Croix, Machias, Narraguagas, Allagash, Mud Pond Carry, Camp Three (and there have been many), The Lincoln Slide, Walker Ravine, The Willy Slide, Quincy Quarries, The Neponset River, Phil, Don, Tommy, Jan, Jane, The Hostile Native, (or was he just plain put up to it?, "this Jeep smells like Loon," Thoreau Falls, Mt. Washington, The Kinsmans, Franconia Notch, New Hampshire and Maine, Candy Ass, Banick, Shricks, LCB, sunsets and sunrises, rain and snow, The Farm, Squam Lake and its many islands: Mink, Sheep, Beaver, Little Loon; exhaustion, fatigue, exhiliration and, of course, goldline, perlon, sling, skis, canoes, people and just plain good times, not to mention aching bodies that have grown sore during that ropes' course with its flat beam, which can best be described by its access as "candy ass."

This year was the end of an era. In the future, Loon will be shorter and some things will be different, but because of Loon and the people who made it possible, students in the town have had a chance to smell the earth, marvel at its beauty, throw Loonies into rivers, and look at the sky.

Loon is just a happy reflection of life mirrored in Mother Nature.

Co-op Office Education

Thirty-six Walpole High students augmented their business training by working afternoons in local offices. They performed tasks that ranged from stenography and filing to billing and inventory control.

Dismissed from school after Period 5, most students worked approximately twenty hours a week on the job. This office experience not only exposed the students to a wide range of sophisticated equipment, but gave them the experience of working with people outside their own age group and learning to adapt accordingly.

Spanish Club Enjoys Mexico City

The Spanish Club enjoyed a trip to Mexico City where they stayed from April 18-25. While there, they visited Guadalupe, University City, Pyramids of Teotihuacan, and of course, witnessed the perennial favorite — the contest between the matadors and the pawing bulls.

For an interlude, the "Americanos" nudged their way through the colorful and busy marketplace of San Juan Mercade.

The highlights included a tour of the Floating Gardens of Zochimilco and a leisurely stroll along Pasede la Reforma.

The club plans a trip to Madrid next April.

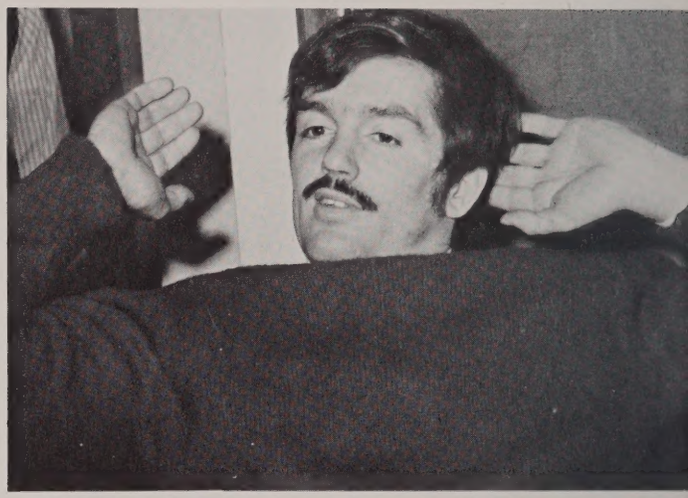
Walpole debate team vaults toward top in meteoric rise

Hubbard: architect of the Walpole debating Renaissance



The Walpole Debate Team emerged from total oblivion to become a potent force in the South Shore League this season. Led by Paul Davis and Rick Hirsh, who despite being seniors were entering upon their first year of participation in the debate program, the team ravaged novice opponents and advanced successfully into varsity competition. The success of the team surprised all but its self-assured members.

Davis: the verbose dogmatist who combined with Hirsh to form the perfect partnership.

Though the official debate topic was whether or not the system of selecting presidential and vice-presidential candidates should be significantly altered, coach Toby Hubbard spent much of his time debating what to do about Albert Abramson, the unpaired member of his three-man team. A mass exodus of team members as the season began left Abramson without a partner, and he remained inactive during much of the season.

With both Hirsh and Davis departing at year's end Hubbard was faced with a complete rebuilding process following one lonely year of prosperity, but he could be secure in the knowledge that for at least one season Walpole had been spared the utter mediocrity which has consistently been its lot in the field of debating.

Outing Club Supplements Loon Activities

It began as a whisper in September and by Thanksgiving it had turned into a full-fledged roar complete with pretzels and hot apple cider. For more than a year many students at WHS had wondered about starting an Outing Club to take up where Loon sometimes left off.

In the fall of this year the idea turned into reality with the arrival of "Two Toms," as they have now become known: Tom Banit and Tom Heyman who both brought with them an interest in students and a desire to do something at WHS besides teach.

With their help the Outing Club has gone on some five major trips and a score of one-day rock climbs. They have also been in other activities including the very successful booth at the Nostalgia Carnival and the pretzel affair.

Mr. Stoltze's German Club was disappointed this year because of the cancellation of their anticipated trip to Germany. The trip was cancelled because of a lack of funds.

The German Club pitched in and helped the Spanish Club obtain funds for their one-week trip to Mexico. They also helped sell raffle tickets for a trip to Bermuda.

The German Club also participated in the very successful Nostalgia Night where they sold German sausages and pretzels. A German Dinner Night was also held.

Future Nurses Club

The Future Nurses Club wasn't very busy this year mainly because of scheduling problems. They did, however, visit Children's Hospital last fall and discuss fund-raising for a small scholarship and the possibility of setting up a first-aid course after school.

This was Mrs. Cross' first year as advisor for the club and she said she was more optimistic for next year.

An end-of-the-year dinner was planned and at that time discussion was held concerning the scheduling of meetings for next year.

Future Teachers' Club

As in past years, members of the Future Teacher's Club have been active in the educational community of Walpole. Tutoring and teacher's aide programs were expanded this year to include the junior highs and several elementary schools. Several girls made weekly trips to the schools and provided valuable assistance in the classroom.

The club decided to visit Framingham for its annual field trip. Reactions were mixed to the techniques of individualized instruction employed at Woodrow Wilson Elementary School where they spent the morning. Royal treatment awaited the group at Framingham State College, where they were given a guided tour of the campus by the student government president. She introduced them to the college president during the course of their tour and dropped them off for lunch in the college cafeteria. The trip was most enjoyable and is recommended for future Future Teachers!

Batons And Shakers Stir The Vibes

Gyrating and pirouetting in restless cartwheels the WHS cheerleaders write the message of hopeful champions in front of the home town fans. Precision cheers through yawning megaphones make the hopeful Rebels just a little more hopeful as they are encouraged on to victory.

Rebels Finish Fifth In State

The Rebel football team finished the 1974-75 season with an 8-2 mark. Most teams would love to have that record, but to Walpole it wasn't quite as good as they would have liked.

Natick and Norwood finished ahead of the Rebels, the only two teams to beat them. The Natick game was a heartbreaker as the Redmen scored a late come-from-behind touchdown for a 15-8 win.

Walpole had won the championship three of the last five seasons and was looking for its first repeat of the crown.

Greg Aiello had to be the most valuable player on the squad. He was in on about every other tackle and led the offense during the middle of the season.

Joe Donnelly, John Gulla, Jim Whitmarsh and Mark Waldo were outstanding on the line. Phil Bergamo quartered the team. Paul Zuzick and Paul Cuomo were tough on defense.

Soccer Ends On Winning Streak

While the soccer team did not have a very successful season, they did end it on a high note, winning their final three games.

With very few starters returning the team was definitely having a re-building year. The players learned quickly and after the first five games they were a threat to all the other teams in the league. This fact, compiled with the growing number of people who are participating in the sport, on both the J.V. and varsity level, promises Walpole a real future in soccer.

Co-captains Judy Driscoll and Donna Pellini, along with Mary Ann Collins, were the team's most valuable players this season which had all the potential for a championship ending. J.V.'s 2nd In Bay State League

The girls' basketball team finished in a fourth-place tie with Dedham in the Bay State League. Led by co-captains Donna Pellini and Judy Driscoll, the team employed an agressive man-to-man defense to confuse many opponents and to start the team's fast break offense.

Highlights of the season were a strong team performance resulting in a 46-32 win over Dedham, and a seat-squirming finish to the whole season when Kim Jackson stepped to the foul line with five seconds remaining and sank two free throws to dump Norwood 28-27.

Marianne Collins had an outstanding year and was selected to play in the first annual Bay State League Coach's All-Star game. Marianne and Cathy Groark have been elected co-captains of what promises to be a very strong team next year.

Joining them on the varsity will be sophomores Peggy Sprague, Patty Farrell, Jean Smith, Karen Lecke, and Betsy Beise who led the J.V.'s to a 7-2 record good for second place in the BSL race.

Maureen Ryan, D. Pellini and J. Driscoll run circles around the opposition.

The Rebel hoopsters finished their season with an improved 8 and 12 record. This season was highlighted by two tough-fought games with Norwood. The first game was won by Norwood in overtime; the Rebels took the second game at Norwood 37 to 31. Both games had packed houses.

The Rebels were a much improved team with the coaching of Jim Collins. They played much tougher games than in past seasons when the Rebels were considered patsies of the Bay State League. They played quality basketball as many of their scores show.

Gymnastic Team Breaks Former Record.

Despite the fact that the girls' gymnastic team won only one meet out of nine this year, there were many highlights. Breaking last year's record, the girls have averaged a ten-point rise each year since Coach Donna Ritcey has come to Walpole High three years ago (the team has been in existence only four years). The five girls who competed on the uneven parallel bars beat all but two teams in the league.

Although losing three seniors (Bonnie Macaskill, captain, Mal Slye, and Lisa Rossi) next year still promises to be a good team as Joan Groden, Karen Crown, Carol Songin, and Pam and Pat Swift return to compete.

Walukevich Top Performer

On February 1, Walpole lost a close one to Norwood 3-2, and finished the season by beating Wellesley 5-3. In the Norwood game at Charles River Ice Arena, Walpole's fine performance was highlighted by goalie Mark Walukevich who saved shot after shot (a total of 89 in both Norwood games) to keep the Rebels in it all the way.

Concluding the season with Natick at Four Seasons, the Rebels started off poorly being scored on three times in the first period. Up from the J.V.'s, Jr. Mike Civitoni got Walpole's lone goal on a slap shot from the slot. Natick won the game 4-1.

Walpole's goalie, Mark Walukevich, was picked to represent Walpole in the All-Star game played Saturday, February 22 at Four Seasons. Mark played shutout hockey against Bay State League Champions, Norwood, in the first period.

Winter Track Sets Some New Records

Eighteen boys ran for the 1974-75 indoor track team. Although the team's record was poor, there were some fine individual results. Mark Higgins was undefeated in the Bay State League and in the process ran the 45-yard hurdles in 6.0 seconds to set a new school record. Mark also took third place in the State Class C Hurdles. Another record was broken in the relay. John Turco, Bill Ahern, Phil Bergamo, and Mark Higgins broke the old record in running 2:53.4.

Those who performed well were Seniors Bob Mienscow in the mile, Dave Larson in the hurdles, John Turco in the 300-yard run, and Phil Bergamo in the 50-yard dash. Underclassmen performing were Bill Ahern in the 1000, Joe Boudreau in the mile, Bob Noran in the 600, Terry Jones in the 50 and Mike Flynn in the 300.

A Young Team Pins Hopes On Bicentennial Matches.

The 3-10 record of the wrestling team reflected the fact that most of the members were underclassmen many of whom had wrestled this year for the first time. Only three seniors competed.

Some impressive individual scores were:

Sr. Co-Captain Mike Connolly 11-2, 3rd in regionals, quarter finalist in state championships (147).

Jr. Co-Captain Steve Tryon 10-2-1, semi-finalist in district (121).

Jr. Ken McDavitt 5-4-1, semi-finalist in district championship (114) — started year as j.v. but became varsity's most deadly pinner with his combination of cradles (187).

Soph. Scott Farnell 6-4-2, best of young wrestlers on team. Lost only 1 match the second half of the season. He is a hard working and dedicated athlete. Improved more in the course of a season than any wrestler Barry Greener ever coached.

Sr. Dave Wise, 187 pounder who wrestled heavyweight all year. In his second year of wrestling he became a very polished and clever wrestler. He lost to district finalists by one point in last five seconds of each match (7-5) record.

Sr. Dale Shamon 6-6, very tough weight class (140), Dale was the most aggressive wrestler that I have ever coached.

Ski Team Wins First Trophy

The Ski Team had a memorable season this year. It began with several downhill races in which Walpole consistently finished third and fourth.

However, led by Senior, Jack Barranger, the downhill teams consistently rallied for the following week's meet. At one time it looked like Jack was destined to win the League's skimeister award but he had to settle for second after losing the first and only x–c race of the year.

While cross-country racers dutifully attended downhill races they all hoped for snow and in February the team had their first x–c race which was held at WHS.

Walpole won the meet by some 200 points, sweeping the top ten places for girls and boys.

Had the harriers of the snowy hills been blessed once again with snow they most likely would have taken the league championship overall but the sun shone and during February vacation many team members had to resort to bicycling rather than skiing.

In any case, WHS had the first ski team with a trophy and this year's underclassmen are eager to make a comeback next year.

At the annual banquet Jim Lodge and Eileen White were elected captains.

JV's Draw The Spotlight

It was a j.v. year with 15 wins and 19 losses. The varsity, after winning the first two against Dover and Needham, bottomed out with only four more wins in the rest of the season.

The old cliche "Wait till next year," seems especially appropriate in the light of this year's j.v. performance.

Rebels, "Close But No Cigar"

In what began as a promising season, the Rebels' Varsity baseball team lost its chances for a playoff berth in an extra-league game May 27 at Hull. Walpole took a 13-6 overall record (12-6 vs. Bay State League teams) into that final game as Hull got to Paul Rooney early and downed the Rebels 5-3.

Surprisingly, Walpole had earlier beaten the Hull nine with a fine 1-0 shutout by Rooney.

Against Norwood (a tournament contender) the Rebels twice proved themselves the better team with victories of 4-2 and 4-3. The Mustang's ace hurler, Larry Brown, took the loss in both contests.

Varsity standouts included Kevin Moore, who tagged a home run off of Brown in the 4-2 win over Norwood, Carl Dastoli, and Joe DeRose.

Girls' Tennis: 7 Out Of 18

The girls' tennis team ended a good season with 7 wins and 11 losses. They improved in the second half winning 5 out of 9 compared with their first half of winning 2 out of 9 matches.

The team will be losing three good, competitive seniors: Donna Pellini, Joe Ellen Farrell, and Sue Dalton; however, next year some promising junior players will return: Mary Alice Howard, Marianne Collins, Sue Stanton, Claire Rossi, Laura Coyle, Sue Lavanchy, Jane Alexander, and Karen Smith. The team has good hopes of a winning season next spring.

Tennis Team Improves 100%!

Despite the valiant efforts by the team, led by seniors Tom Pignatelli and Bob Manninen, the boys finished with a lamentable 2-16 record – both wins being against Dedham.

As usual Coach Morris donned his prophetic robe to scan a happier season next year when his hopefuls return. Those hopefuls are juniors Mike McDonald and Kurt Riess along with sophomores Joel Garcia and Bob Noren.

Though a league championship is an improbable goal – the 100% improvement over last year's performance is a promising sign (last year's record: one win over the accommodating Dedham).

Girls' Track: Year Of Change

It certainly was a year of change for the girls' track team. First, the girls' team, which did win a meet last year, came in third in the Bay State League. Second, they officially became arsity sport. Third, records were broken and rebroken this year in the following events: 220 d run, 440 yard run, the 80 yard hurdles, shot put, the 440 yard relay and the 880 medley ay. The effort put out by the girls and their attitudes towards their rival teams was excellent.

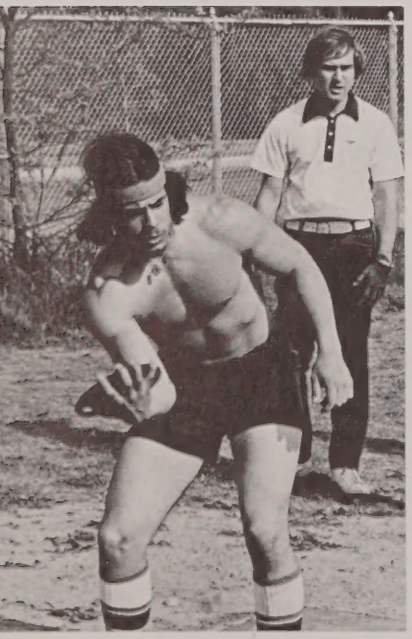
Bergamo's Javelin Pins State



Walpole High had its first state champion in spring track since it began competing way back in 1924. At the same time that he won the state championship in javelin, Phil Bergamo also broke WHS' javelin record of 187' 3" held by Kevin Smith (1971—183' 2").

Another outstanding contender was Mark Higgins, who placed 4th in the state in the 120 high hurdles. He was second in the Bay State League (in the 120 high and 180 low's). Mark led the team in points scored (118).

Like Phil, Mark also broke a school record by taking four first's (120 high's; 180 low's; triple jump; and the long jump) while competing against both Framingham South and later against Framingham North.

Another group that made some outstanding contributions were the high jumpers: Robert Bushway, Brian Thomas, R. Cannore (also doubled in pole vault, winning twice during the season with a record high of 10' 6").

Soph record this year speaks of a bright future:

Bill Ahearn	202.4 in the 880

The Golf Team finished with an impressive 7-2 record this year. It fell just short of post-season play as first-place Needham won their last match 6-3 vs. Wellesley to finish with eight wins and one loss.

Captain Steve Pidgeon, Joe Murphy, and Brian Kehoe went to the state championships on Tuesday, May 27. Pidgeon qualified for the next round with a 77, although he was marred by 36 putts. Kehoe shot a respectable 81 and Murphy shot an 82.

Solving the school problems

To the Editor:

After reading the latest contributions in the Walpole Times to the school issue, I would like to offer the following for the digestion of the citizens of Walpole.

$10.2 million school addition approved

BY TANNA KASPEROWICZ

A special town meeting approved a $10.2 million addition-alteration project for the high school last Thursday. The vote was 95-44, just three votes more than the two-thirds majority vote needed for passage of the bond issue.

The $10.2 million project, which includes a swimming pool, is essentially a stripped down version of the $12.2 million package which was offered to a special town meeting on Dec. 19. At that time, representatives defeated the proposal and directed the Board of Selectmen to meet with School Department officials to determine if less costly plans could be drawn up.

Both the Permanent Building Committee and the Finance Committee recommended approval of a $9.9 million addition, which had eliminated an $800,000 auditorium, $200,000 for moveable equipment, a$66,000 planetarium, and $50,000 field utility building and other things from the original set of plans.

Building Committee Chairman John Connor warned at the outset of debate on Article 6 that "this may be the last time the town will have a chance to vote on the 65 per cent reimbursement. There is no place for us to go with this project." His words seemed to weigh heavily on town meeting representatives throughout the debate.

SIXTEEN TOWN meeting members changed their votes from no on Dec. 19 to yes on Feb. 13 for the $10.2 million addition. At both meetings, there were 139 members present.

Early in the discussion, Claire M. Lounsbery of Precinct 4 offered town meeting a substitute motion which included the swimming pool within the article instead of leaving it as an alternative. The substitute motion passed.

However, town meeting was then inadvertently advised that the entire package would be lost unless the "school plus pool" motion survived a two-thirds majority vote. Confusion and more debate ensued, with those supporting the addition fearful that the inclusion of the pool would doom the addition for defeat. With apparently the same thoughts, those opposed to the addition were pleased, and Selectman Robert W. Foster of Precinct 1 questioned Town Moderator Thomas White's ability to carry out town meeting's intentions.

MaryAnn Boragine of Precinct 1 asked Mr. White how town meeting could correct the substitute motion so the meeting could vote on the main motion of a $9.9 million addition and vote separately on the pool as an alternative. "I don't want to lose the whole package," she said.

Town Counsel Alphone W. Query Jr. advised town meeting to reconsider their vote on the substitute motion. Had reconsideration passed, town meeting would have been able to defeat the substitute motion and proceed to vote on the main article and the swimming pool separately. However, reconsideration failed, 83-42. It had needed a two-thirds majority vote to pass.

WITH THE POOL now a permanent part of the article, the issue was put to its final test, a roll call vote. Supporters' fears of defeat proved groundless, and the $10.2 million addition including the pool passed, 95-44, just three votes more than needed for the two-thirds majority vote.

During the debate, Finance Committee member Thomas H. McCormack suggested to town meeting that the School Committee look into their operating budget for some... funding of the addition. But ... State reverses stand; RTM to vote on $9.9 million addition

The state School Building Assistance Bureau (SBAB) has reversed its stand of a week ago, thereby allowing the Permanent Building and Finance Committees to recommend that a special town meeting tonight appropriate $9.9 million for a high school addition.

The town meeting gets under way at 7:30 this evening in the auditorium of West Junior High School.

According to Mr. Connor, the state Board of Education told its subordinate agency, the SBAB, not to issue any new approvals for 45 days. At that time it was thought both by local and state officials that final approval could not be given to the major changes in the Walpole project.

Therefore, the Building Committee returned to the drawing boards to again revise their plans. This time managed to make several cost

$9.9 million project," Mr. Connor said.

Now that it has been determined that the town has all the SBAB approvals it needs, officials will go to the state Board of Education for the final approval. But Mr. Connor explained tha this is a mere formality. The Board of Education has no discretion in such a case. If the SBAB has issued all required approvals, then the Board of Education must also approve 65 per cent funding.

Mrs. Macquire added that she felt portable classrooms and the to-be-built Tri-County Vo-Tech School would take the necessary burden off the school system.

School Supt. Dr. John T. MacDonald questioned whether portable classrooms or he vo-tech could offer relief. "Portable classrooms do take care of the problem temporarily," he said, adding that Walpole school system's overcrowding is not a temporary problem.

SPEAKING IN FAVOR OF the $10.2 addition was William Robinson of Precinct 7. "If a pool can get 10 kids out of Friendly's Parking lot, we'll save $12,000 in a policeman's salary," he said.

Another supporter of the addition, Bernard J. Duffy Jr. of Precinct 3, admitted that he had a long history of opposing the school addition, saying 1974

Referendum also possible

Town meeting will face two choices on HS addition

BY PETER HAYHOW
Managing Editor

As a result of the 45-day moratorium on school construction recently imposed by the state Board of Education, next Thursday's special town meeting will face two choices on the proposed high school addition: a $10.7 million plan that will have guaranteed 65 per cent state reimbursement; and a $9.9 million plan that will carry no such guarantee.

These are the latest effects of the moratorium as determined by local school officials, who have been in almost constant contact with the state School Building Assistance Bureau and Board of Education since the moratorium was imposed last week. However, all officials agree that this reimbursemtnt-guaranteed plan, though, will be the one recommended by the School, Building and Finance Committees.

In effect, Mr. Bruno told the School Committee Monday night, the Building Committee will take the opposite approach at town meeting next week from its proposal last month. "Before we went in with everything and it would have taken a separate motion to get an alternate out of the plans. This time we're going in with the basic plan and it will take a separate motion to put an alternate back in."

ALL OF THOSE affiliated with the planning stages are stressing that both proposals to be made next week are basic templated before the moratorium was announced and for which tentative SBAB approval had been granted. These cuts include eliminating the new auditorium and completely eliminating the building addition portion that would have contained the swimming pool. These additional cuts will bring the estimated cost down to $9.9 million.

If a referendum vote is to be the final answer, one of the two plans will have to be approved by town meeting. Then a petition must be filed within 10 days of the town meeting's vote requesting the referendum on the same issue.

When asked to assess the possible town meeting vote next week, Mr. Connor declined, saying, "I try not to

. . .Project details

He reported that last summer, as the prospect of escalating costs became apparent, the committee spent several weeks going over the project in an attempt to trim the budget.

Modifications in classroom size, reduction of the number of athletic fields and economies in other areas produced a reduction of about $406,000, he said.

$5.5M Net Cost

He also gave comparative cost estimates for the project with and without two options, a swimming pool and a planetarium.

The net reduction after state reimbursement if the two options are not included would be about $76,683, he said.

The net cost of the entire project to the town would be $5.5 million, he stated.

Building committee member Peter Conti related that, according to state law, the bids received for the project would remain firm unless there were changes in the plans.

Architect Credibility

Howeer, Precinct 1 Rep. Margaret F. Maguire charged that a high school being constructed in West Roxbury had nearly doubled in cost since bids were received and asked whether this could happen in Walpole.

Mr. Conti replied, "To the best of my knowledge it could not."

Precinct 3 Rep. Richard Holman and Precinct 6 Rep. Harry Harding both questioned the credibility of the architectural firm of Russell, Gibson and Von Dohlen which had prepared last spring's figures.

Dr. Harding added that he had polled 70 families at random in his precinct and found sentiment running 4-1 against the school.

Petition Favors

However, both Precinct 3 Rep. Mary Ann Boragine and Precinct 4 Rep. Claire Lounsbery responded that they had received primarily positive comments.

Mrs. Lounsbery said she had a petition signed by more than 500 residents from all precincts in favor of the project.

Richard W. Dugdale of precinct 3 commented, "Everybody agrees we need this but nobody wants to pay for it."

He said he was told by an architect the cost escalation appears justified.

Speaking in favor of approving the project now he declared, "If we waited six months it would be that much worse."

the only warrant article to generate any debate was a request to designate Baker and Peach Streets as scenic roads.

Selectman Clement A. Boragine spoke against the article, arguing that it would impede progress and tie selectmen's hands.

Before any work is done on a scenic road which would necessitate the removal of trees or stone walls the planning board must hold a public hearing.

Selectman Robert W. Foster, emphasizing that both he and Mr. Boragine were speaking as individuals, argued in favor of the article as a step toward proper planning.

Precinct 1 Rep. Hazel Tarbell commented, "Sometimes by the time people know what's going on the trees are down and the stone walls removed."

The article, which had FinCom endorsement, passed easily.

FinCom Overruled

Representatives bucked the FinCom recommendation on an article requesting $2,750 for public liability insurance, appropriating $3,007 instead.

The difference makes the insurance $1,000 deductible rather than $2,500 deductible.

Town meeting members went along with the FinCom's recommendation to lease the Deacon Willard Lewis House to the historical society and to take no action on a Norfolk County Hospital assessment of $1,758.

The no action vote was primarily a protest against the method of assessment, FinCom Chairman Raymond Kasperowicz said, painting out the town would have to pay the bill anyway.

Security Service

Representatives also approved $10,480 for continued use of a security service to protect public buildings and $33,608 for highway construction.

Members also approved the transfer of funds from the conservation commission fund to buy land, thus qualifying the commission for 50 per cent state reimbursement.

They also appropriated $2,680 to pay bills which Mr. Kasperowicz explained had been late but were legitimate.

They took no action on a request to purchase or take by eminent domain a sewer easement off Ginley Road after Sewer and Water Commissioner Edward Delaney said a dispute over the easement had been resolved.
